Games on ROBLOX have many different settings, including combat, customization settings, scenery design, etc. Several games that are featured on ROBLOX have different levels of rules, from the extremely basic "No Rules" or "Give and Take" settings to "No Kill" settings. The more difficult options create a more immersive experience for the players. For example, some games' settings can only be changed by the current owner, while other games have custom-made tools that allow players to modify it at will. [35]

Most YouTube videos will give you a link that will provide you with a free Robux reward. The amount depends on how many views the video has and the number of subscribers the user has. For example, if an account has over 1 million subscribers, they'll give an extra 2,000 robux for any views that would put them over 10,000,000 views; however, this only applies before rewards are scaled down.

Not all games are created equal and often we see them develop at an incredibly fast pace which makes us believe that this process will be smooth and easy but it doesn't always happen that way: first of all, people often have unrealistic expectations for themselves and secondly they forget to look at what others are doing and how the market reacts to new games.

Rated 5 out of 5 by Anonymous from Fun Fun Great game for all ages. It shows you the basics on building your character and some scripting as well. Not to mention, the multi-player features that ROBLOX provides.

In 2011, ROBLOX created a game called "Tank Trouble" that was very similar to the popular game "Minecraft". This caused a lot of people to leave ROBLOX due to the lack of creativity and stealing other companies' ideas. Later on, Minecraft and ROBLOX started exploring ways to work together which ended up in creating an official version of Minecraft on ROBLOX as well as adding multiple features from Minecraft into their site. The official version is called "Bloxburg" and the unofficial version is called "Roxburgh".
